Budget Plan

Dear Customer,

You are probably wondering, "Why should I go on a Budget Plan?". The answer is very simple, save money and stop worrying about your upcoming heating bill during the harsh New York winter.

Glider Oil's Budget plan offers our customers many rewards.

Cap Pricing

Glider gives its customers a true CAP Price for Propane and Fuel Oil, this means you can not pay more than what your cap is set for. However, on the day you get your delivery if the market price is less than the CAP, the customer would pay the lower market price. The CAP applies to only budget gallons, all other gallons are at market price.

Earn Credits

You also earn credits to your account each month that you have a credit balance on your account. The credits are calculated @ 4% annually based on account balance. The annual rate for credits may be adjusted each year.

Cash Discount

As a budget customer you automatically qualify for any prompt pay discount. It does not apply to the CAP price.

Budget Payments

Budgets are calculated from the prior heating seasons usage. Glider computes how many gallons you used last season and rounds it up to the nearest 100 gallons. This is multiplied by the CAP price, then divided into 12 months to give you a monthly payment amount.

"What if I was set to high?"

Glider Oil takes how much credit you have on your account and applies it to next years heating season lowering your payment, or we will issue a refund at the your request.

"What if it set to low?"

Glider has set up a standard practice to review all accounts in February to see how your account is doing. If Glider determines that your payments were set too low we will notify you that your payment needs to be adjusted, to prevent a large balance being due at the end of the budget season.

Rules for the Budget Plan

Plan runs from July to June and all 12 payments must be paid monthly. If there is a balance on your account in June it must be paid in full to start the next budget season with a zero balance.

- All payments must be received by the 20th of each month.
- If one budget payment is missed you will lose CAP pricing.
- If two budget payments are missed you are removed from the budget plan. All balances are due immediately.
